Which of the following statements best describes the relationship between emotional intelligence and leadership effectiveness?

Options :

6406531741272. ✗ Emotional intelligence is not necessarily a predictor of leadership effectiveness, as there are other factors such as experience, expertise, and personality that can also play a role in effective leadership.

6406531741273. ✗ Emotional intelligence may be negatively related to leadership effectiveness, as highly emotionally intelligent leaders may be perceived as too soft or empathetic, leading to a lack of authority and respect from their followers.

6406531741274. ✓ ☐ Emotional intelligence is positively related to leadership effectiveness, as it allows leaders to understand and manage their own emotions, as well as the emotions of their followers, leading to improved communication, motivation, and overall performance.

6406531741275. ✗ Emotional intelligence has a curvilinear relationship with leadership effectiveness, where moderate levels of emotional intelligence are associated with the highest levels of leadership effectiveness. In contrast, both low and high levels of emotional intelligence are associated with lower levels of effectiveness.
