General Guidelines:

(i) This paper comprises two types of questions: Short Answer Type and Multiple Choice Questions. The total marks for the paper are 30. Answer all questions to the best of your ability.

(ii) Short Answer Type Questions:

- These questions are numbered 3 to 4. Each question includes a specified word limit and mark allocation.
- Ensure that your answers are well-supported with relevant content from the course and suitable examples where applicable. Answers based purely on guesswork or personal opinions without support from theories or frameworks will not earn any marks.
- Irrelevant answers, off-topic responses, or duplication of information from the question paper will not receive marks.

(iii) Multiple Choice Questions:

- These questions are numbered 5 to 23 and carry one mark each.
- Carefully read each question and select the most accurate option. There is only one correct answer per question.

(iv) All characters, relationships, and events in the case or questions are fictitious. Any resemblance to real-life persons or events is purely coincidental.

(v) Any content in this paper that is owned by authors, publishers, or copyright holders will be appropriately redacted to avoid copyright infringement.

Please indicate that you have read and understood the guidelines by marking the appropriate box below:

For Questions 3a, 3b, and 3c, answer based on the description provided below. This question is divided into three sub-questions. Please answer all parts.

[Leadership Lessons] Leaders often navigate challenges by distinguishing between spheres of responsibility, as discussed in this course. This is similar to a framework introduced by Stephen R. Covey in his book The 7 Habits of Highly Effective People. Reflect on a personal or professional experience, identify these three spheres of responsibility, and state whether your actions reflect those of an effective leader

3 a. Sphere 1 (Answer in 50 words, 2 marks)

3 b. Sphere 2 (Answer in 50 words, 2 marks)

3 c. Sphere 3 (Answer in 50 words, 2 marks)

NOTE: Your total word count should not exceed 150 words. Total marks are 6.

Reflect on your own academic, personal, or professional experience and answer Questions 4a and 4b. This question is divided into two sub-questions. Please answer all parts.

[Systems Thinking] In complex environments, individuals often get caught in reactive cycles where short-term problem-solving takes precedence over long-term effectiveness. Systems thinking encourages the application of underlying principles, while habits influence how consistently individuals respond to such situations.

- 4 a. Identify and describe one systems thinking principle relevant to such a situation. Explain how this principle helps in understanding it more effectively. (Answer in 50 words, 2 marks)
- 4 b. Describe one systems thinking habit which makes you not react immediately but helps you to pause, reflect and then take action. Reflect on how applying this habit, along with its associated questions, could change your approach in a similar situation. (Answer in 100 words, 3 marks)

NOTE: Your total word count should not exceed 150 words. Total marks are 5.

[Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs] select the most appropriate option. Each statement has only one correct answer.

Maslow's Hierarchy explains how human motivation moves from basic survival to high-level fulfillment. In a professional growth context, understanding these levels helps managers identify why employees may be disengaged or what specific support they require to reach their peak performance.

Read the following scenarios and identify which level of Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs best apply to each situation.

[Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs] Vikram recently launched a tech startup. While he has a visionary product, the company is currently facing a severe cash flow crisis. Vikram has missed his last two months of personal rent payments, and he is constantly worried about whether he can afford daily meals and basic utilities while keeping the office doors open. He tells his mentor, "I have great ideas for the future, but right now, I'm just trying to survive the day."

Which level of Maslow's hierarchy is currently dominant in Vikram's life?

Options :

6406536956606. ✖ Self-actualization needs

6406536956607. ✖ Esteem needs

6406536956608. ✔ Physiological needs

Read the following scenarios and identify which level of Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs best apply to each situation.

[Maslow's Hierarchy of Needs] Megha is a highly competent software architect who works fully remotely for a foreign firm. She is paid exceptionally well and has a permanent contract. However, because she never meets her team and her work is mostly behind the scenes, she feels like a ghost in the organization. She recently told a friend, I feel like I don't belong to a community, and no one truly appreciates the complexity of the code I write.

Which levels of Maslow's hierarchy are currently unfulfilled for Megha?

Options :

6406536956610. ✖ Physiological and safety needs

[Four Zones of Growth] Scenario: Karthik has spent five years as a Test Engineer at Aether Electronics, where he is the go-to expert for standard thermal cycling tests. His manager suddenly asks him to lead the Systems Integration for a next-generation autonomous drone, a role requiring deep knowledge of sensor fusion and real-time OS, which Karthik has never handled.

Karthik's heart sinks. He worries that if the drone crashes during the flight test, his reputation will be ruined. He spends the first week doubting his technical foundation.

Despite his anxiety, he signs up for an advanced robotics course, spends his evenings in the lab prototyping the sensor array, and asks the lead firmware architect for a weekly mentorship session.

The flight test was successful. Six months later, Karthik feels as confident designing sensor architectures as he once did running thermal tests.

Which of the following best describes Karthik's journey through the Zones of Growth?

Options :

6406536956618. ✖ He transitioned from the Fear Zone directly to the Growth Zone, bypassing the stress of the Comfort Zone.

6406536956619. ✔ He moved from the Comfort Zone into the Fear Zone, and then progressed to the Learning Zone.

6406536956620. ✖ He remained in the Fear Zone because his initial confidence was shaken, however he progressed to the Growth Zone.

6406536956621. ✖ He expanded his Comfort and Growth Zone by signing up for advanced courses and conducting successful flight tests.

[Growth Mindset] Scenario: At VoltEdge Systems, the engineering team is hitting critical roadblocks during the final integration phase of a new medical imaging device. Here is how the leads are responding:

Abdul: When the initial PCB prototype failed a thermal stress test, he noted, "The architecture is complex, but each failure point gives us data to refine the next iteration."

Veronica: Faced with a recurring bug in the firmware, she organized a "debug sprint" with the software team, saying, "I want to understand the logic errors so I can write better test cases in the future."

Manoj: After a high-stakes client demo resulted in a system crash, he remarked, "I'm an electrical engineer, not a presenter. I'm just not built for client-facing roles; you either have that charisma or you don't."

Ishita: When a key component went EOL (End of Life) unexpectedly, she began researching alternative semiconductors, stating, "I haven't managed this specific supplier type before, but I can learn the procurement nuances."

[Growth Mindset] Whose response contradicts the principles of a Growth Mindset?

Options :

6406536956622. ✖ Abdul

6406536956623. ✖ Veronica

6406536956624. ✔ Manoj

[Cultural Dimensions] Scenario: Erika, a manager from the United States, recently relocated to India to lead a supply chain transformation project. In her previous role in the US, she encouraged her team to take the initiative and make decisions without waiting for her approval. She expected her subordinates to speak up if they disagreed with her strategy, viewing it as a sign of a healthy, flat organizational structure.

However, in India, Erika noticed that her team was hesitant to make moves without her explicit "green light." Even when she invited open critique during meetings, the junior staff remained quiet and deferred to her seniority, showing a deep respect for her rank and the established chain of command. Erika realized that the expectations regarding how much influence a manager should have over subordinates differed greatly between the two countries.
